

Group Weekly Reports

Purpose:

These reports are the culmination of a week's worth of progress for your group. You will explain what your group learned and accomplished over the previous week, linking it to the material covered in the previous week's lecture. Questions listed in the previous week's agenda provide a framework for what should be discussed. You will also have a chance to see every group's progress, gauge how your effort compares to others, and gain inspirations for ways to improve your group's approach.

Format:

The presentation will last five minutes, and will be led by a single group member each week. We expect five minutes should sufficiently cover your progress. Group members will rotate week to week. All group members will be assessed every week, even if they are not presenting, as it is the group's responsibility to ensure the team member is prepared to demonstrate the group's learnings. The presentation will be followed by a 3-minute Q&A where the entire group will be able to participate.

Public speaking is not everyone's favorite activity, and we are not here to assess your suitability as a speechmaker. We genuinely just want to hear what you have to say, and want to give you the space and the opportunity to share your voice. Nervousness happens to all of us, and we interpret it as simply wanting to do a good job. That's certainly the case for us!
